

The Cumberland Rockies present a Youth and Novice Clinic

Saturday, June 26th
10 am - 5 pm CST
held at Deweese Farms

We welcome all to attend, either to observe and learn, or to bring their horse and enjoy the day. We are asking a charge of $10 per horse. Those that do not attend with a horse are free! The day does include lunch at no extra charge. Deweese Farms, in Franklin, Kentucky has graciously offered their facility for the day's events, so that the clinic can be held, rain or shine. Volunteering as instructors are Jason and Amanda Cole of South Forty Farms in Bowling Green, KY. We invite all youth and novice exhibitors to attend!

Where's Deweese Farms?

Located at 412 Gregory Road
Franklin, KY 42134

Certification held during lunch break!

We are going to have RM Examiners on site during the clinic to help host Certification for horses that need it. It's a great time to certify!!

What will we learn?? We are offering instruction and advice on show ring protocol, what to expect in the ring, what the different types of classes there are to compete in. We'll help give advice on the rules of what you should wear, what tack is appropriate, where we shop to find all that we use.

We can assist in equitation and showmanship, and will have a large variety of obstacles along with us for all horses to learn with that are used both in the obstacle course classes at shows, as well as the rated trail rides.

If you choose not to attend with a horse, we'll be more than happy to teach in a way where you can learn as much as possible! We hope everyone can take home useful information from this clinic!

We will have current Ashley Hytry winning horse, Sonny's Smokey Mountain along with us, to demonstrate how he carried his rider to the center ring with victory.

A current negative Coggins and health certification are necessary of all horses that attend this event!
